

A Lion in the House

a film by Steven Bognar & Julia Reichert

Rubric – HELPING HANDS FOR FAMILIES

This rubric can serve as a guideline for a unit assessment. You can tailor the criteria to fit your specific needs. The comments section could be used for teacher comments or student self-evaluation.

Criteria	3	2	1	Comments
Understanding of the issues facing families dealing with childhood cancer	The student demonstrates a strong understanding of the issues facing families.	The student demonstrates some understanding of issues facing families.	The student does not demonstrate an understanding of the issues facing families.
Understanding of the complexities of planning and coordinating fundraisers	The student demonstrates a strong understanding of the complexities of fundraisers.	The student shows a basic understanding of the complexities of fundraisers.	The student does not understand the complexities of fundraisers.
Commitment to service project	The student is strongly committed to the service project and contributes the best effort possible.	The student showed some commitment to the service project but could have been more involved.	The student did not show a commitment to the service project.

You can make a difference

“You know you are truly alive when you are living among lions.”
— Isak Dinesen